HOUSE PETERS DOES BIG WORK

House Peters and Adele Farrington, who are appearing together in the feature picture of the week-end program at the Liberty theater, will be seen for the last time tomorrow. The production has scored a decided success in Honolulu. The plot of "The Heir of the Ages" is carried forward before the spectator in two parallel stories, both of which have elaborate settings. In the first part of the picture conditions in the early dawn of the world's history and the savage life of the age of the cave man are pictured. In the other part of the story the characters are presented as they appear in modern-day life. This phase has its setting in a mining camp. The picture illustrates that human nature is never changing, and that whether it be cave man or the man of today, brother love remains the same, the stronger protects and shields the weaker. The work of House Peters in the production is reminiscent of his part in "The Lonesome Chap," in which he made a tremendous success here.

The program includes the 14th chapter of the stirring serial, "The Secret Kingdom," and the Pathe Weekly News pictures.

700,000 WOMEN NOW MAKING MUNITIONS IN FACTORIES IN BRITAIN

LONDON, Eng.—There are now 700,000 women employed on munitions work in this country as against 140,000 in 1915. The number of men employed shows an increase during the same period of 66.6 per cent. The war office is calling for about 12,000 women a month for service at home and abroad, many being especially wanted in the aerodromes and airplane repair shops.

In the London Daily Sketch magazine of October 20, appears a smiling portrait of Lieutenant H. L. Strange, who has been decorated by King George with the Military Cross for good services rendered while on active service in France. Strange was formerly manager of the Honolulu Gas Co.

VIRILE GIRL BEATS VILLAINS

Filled with stirring incidents of love and tragedy amid the pines of the great forests of the Sierras which are made the setting for a gigantic plot involving a land steal from the government with a frail delicate girl battling against the political ring for her rights, make an ideal theme for an absorbing film drama as unfolded in "The Girl of the Timber Claims," which is now playing at the Bijou. It is a strong story well told with Constance Talmadge in the feature role of the girl who meets the scheming villains on their own ground and with the aid of a government investigator outwits them after a long battle.

The picture is pregnant with the outdoor life of the northwest which calls for rugged men and strong characters. Into this whirlpool of plot and scheming is thrown the daughter of a botanist who is proving up on his claim. On her father's death the daughter is called upon to use all her womanly wit which combined with a determination that knows no failure, foils the clique that would jump the claims of the original settlers. Interwoven is a pretty love tale that offsets the tragedy that threatens to engulf her youthful life.

The big broad expanse of forests offer fertile background for exceptional filming that reveals the innermost secrets of nature.

STIRRING DRAMA IS HAWAII BILL

"Tangled Lives," the feature picture in which Genevieve Hamper is appearing as star, and the comedy "The Vagabond," with the inimitable Charlie Chaplin, which was held over through the week in answer to popular demand, will close at the Hawaii with tomorrow's programs.

"Tangled Lives" as the title indicates is a dramatic story full of complications. It is a story set in tropical surroundings of plot and counter plot that center in a struggle for an inheritance. All measure of melodramatic action brings out all of the star's powers as an actress.

"The Vagabond" is a typical Chaplin production, but it has a number of distinctly new slants which Chaplin has developed and which hold new laugh making possibilities.

The third chapter of the serial, "The Neglected Wife," which carries the subtitle, "The Crucible," is also shown as a part of the program which also includes the weekly news pictures.

KAMEHAMEHA GIRLS TO GIVE INDIAN OPERETTA ON SCHOOL TERRACE

Tomorrow night the terrace of the Kamehameha Girls' School will be the scene of a most delightful portrayal of American Indian life. "The Feast of the Red Corn," an operetta by Paul Bliss, is to be produced entirely by the girls of the school under the direction of various members of the faculty.

The story, which is interpreted by action, song and dance, deals with the sacred yearly festival of the maidens of the tribe of Wanta. The trees of the terrace form a perfect representation of the heart of the forest. Here the maidens gather for the husking of the corn and its attendant ceremonies. To the maiden finding the first red ear among the corn is given the fulfillment of her dearest wish. This year the queen herself joins the maidens, wishing to be assured of the safety of her absent king. The action continues through a day and a night, embodying comedy, near tragedy, a ghost dance, an arrow dance and many beautiful musical numbers, both solo and chorus.

The costumes are one of the most attractive features of the performance.

The boys of the school have lent their skill to arrange the electrical effects.

The entire proceeds of the performance will be contributed by the girls to the Red Cross.

The cast is as follows:
Queen Weedawanta...Dolly Volburg
Impee Light...Irene Wilson
Old Squaw...Lydia Kapu
Pudgee...Ruby Nobriga
Wudgee...Kaul Wilcox
Pudgee...Priscilla Alden
Vision of the King...Lahapa Bray

Flaming arrow dance.
Chorus of 62 and 12 dancers.

BALLET RUSSE IN NEW NUMBER

"The Death of the Swan" will be the main number on the program of the Ballet Russe given at Lanika this evening. It will be followed by a number of dances entirely different from those offered on the first two evenings, with the exception of the dance eccentric, the sensational number, which will be repeated by request.

Miss Aimee Maynard, Bankoff himself, Donald Blanding and Arthur Wyman will have the principal parts in the "Death of the Swan." Miss Maynard has charmed the Lanika audiences with her work in the program of the first two nights.

Ivan Bankoff will take the part of the prince, who as the jealous lover causes the death of the swan while trying to make an end of the king, danced by Donald Blanding. Arthur Wyman is the owl, the Swan's faithful and devoted lover, who at the last bears away her limp body to his home in the tree.

The swans, dancers and ladies of the court, will be the bevy of local society beauties who were seen in Scheherazade and the accompanying dances the first two nights. They were quite the most delightful feature of the Scheherazade dances. New costumes throughout and new stage settings have been provided.

The music of the Russian orchestra will again furnish the appropriate musical setting for the dances.

SELINSKY GIVES RECITAL MONDAY

The second recital by Max Selinsky, the noted Russian violinist, now stopping in Honolulu, will be given in Mission Memorial hall Monday evening.

Selinsky has been heard at several gatherings in this city as well as in his first recital, and has gained golden opinions everywhere for his wonderful mastery of the bow and strings. As a technician he is unequaled perhaps except by Kreisler, while his tone has a depth and richness all its own.

His playing at the Ad club luncheon on Wednesday gained him several enthusiastic encores, to which he gracefully and willingly responded. After the last note had died away he was unanimously elected an honorary life member of the club, an honor only accorded to those of particular distinction who have appeared before the club.

"I SHOULD WORRY NOW ABOUT CORNS!"

They Peel Off With "Gets-It."

Two corns are no worse than one, and one is nothing at all—when you use "Gets-It," the one real corn-shrinker, corn loosener, peel-it-right-off corn-remover. That's because two drops of "Gets-It" cases your corn-pains at once, and you know that that old corn has been "pipped in the bud." "Gets-It" makes cutting and digging at a corn and fusing with bandages, salves or anything else entirely unnecessary. Remember "Gets-It" is safe.

You'll not have to take off your shoe or pumps under the table at the cafe to ease your squirming soul. See that you get "Gets-It." Don't be insulted by imitations. 25c is all you need pay at any drug store for "Gets-It" or it will be sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Honolulu and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Benson, Smith & Co., Cor. Fort and Hotel Sts., and Hollister Drug Company.
